

WORLDWIDE

ABOUT MOTOROLAPRODUCTS AND SERVICESSHOPCUSTOMER SUPPORT

Select a Country/Region

SEARCH

North America - Government & Public Safety Training

Motorola Training Home
North America - Government
& Public Safety Training
About Training
Available Courses
-- Search Training
-- Technology Paths
-- Self-Study CD Courses
-- Training Catalog (PDF)
-- Training Catalog (CD)
Training Center Information
Training Certification
Contact
Change Region
-- EMEA

ASTRO® 25 IV&D Network Security ACS75211-E

Course Overview

The ASTRO 25 workshop describes the functionality of —and the hardware and software associated with—CN network Security in the ASTRO 25 IV&D System.

Audience

System Technicians, System Managers

Course Objectives

After completing this course, the student will be able to:

- Define network security and its functions
- List the network security components of an ASTRO 25 IV&D system
- Define the functions, components and operation of the Core Server Management Server (CSMS)
- Identify the functions, components and operation of the Interface Barrier (NB)
- Identify the functions, components and operation of the border router and the peripheral network router

Prerequisites

Completion of ASTRO 25 IV&D Trunked System Overview (ACS76200-E) and passing score on post-test
Completion of the following courses or equivalent experience:

- Bridging the Knowledge Gap (ACT100)
- Networking Essentials in Communication Equipment (NST762)

Length

Self-Paced

Delivery Method

Self-Paced Online

Enrollment Options

Coming in 2009